

Help end the strike FAST.

Here's how:

Ontario's college teachers, counsellors, and librarians want to give all students a high-quality education. That's why we're on strike. We want to see more full-time faculty, and more faculty time and attention, for each and every college student.

Ontario Premier Dalton McGuinty says he wants the same thing. He says the future of our economy depends on high quality education.

The problem is, college management is not getting the message. It's time they did.

You can help end this strike. Please contact Mr. McGuinty. Tell him to tell the colleges to stop fighting faculty and join with us to deliver a better education for every college student.
