Workload Task Force...gone

Don't let this work go to waste

In the last round of bargaining, faculty made sacrifices in order to get an independently-chaired Workload Task Force. As a result, we achieved a report that clearly identifies problems and gives joint, unanimous recommendations.

Now, the employer wants you to accept an offer that IGNORES the Task Force's key recommendations. If the employer succeeds, the report, and its recommendations, are dead.

If the Report is not dealt with now, it will be impossible to raise it in the next round of bargaining. All of the work, and the sacrifices made to achieve it, will have been wasted.

On February 10, tell the employer that you
WILL NOT allow the recommendations of the Workload Task Force to be thrown away.

Vote to reject the employer's offer.
